Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Should we give up meat?

Learning Outcome

Describe the reasons or results of events or actions in spoken or written texts, in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Are you or have you ever been vegetarian? Why or why not?
- Do you think that vegetarianism is a healthy diet? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about beliefs and opinions and use colloquial expressions.
- I can say and use words that are spelled the same but are pronounced differently and have a different meaning.
- I can link two sounds to make a new one.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa says quitting drinking coffee will be a piece of cake.

* "A piece of cake" is something that is easy to do.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Hello? Hold on just a second ... I'm paying for my java ... Okay, hi Vanessa.
- Vanessa: Hi Peter. Did you talk to Amy a second time? Does she still want to give you a hand with your cleanse and preparing your meals?
- Peter : Yeah, she does. She's coming by this weekend to look at the recipes and the cookbook and make a shopping list. We might still need your help with some of the recipes. Will you be able to take a call while you're at work?
- Vanessa: I have an even better idea. The staff person who needed the weekend off had to change her plans, so I'm free for the whole weekend and I don't have to close the restaurant on Friday.
- Peter: Wow, that's great! You can relax and not think about cooking, except for when we call you for advice.
- Vanessa: Well, what do you think about this idea? I will teach you and Amy to cook this weekend. Amy's close to me, and I know she's got a great kitchen with all the equipment and tools we need. We can spend the weekend at her place cooking together. I haven't been able to spend much time with either of you, so we can take this time to catch up and also get you some new and improved eating habits. Also, we can use my car to carry all the heavy cans. You just need to bring change for the parking meter so I don't get a fine.
- Peter: Are you sure? That would be great. Wait, what cans?
- Vanessa: Beans, Peter. You're going to be getting your protein from beans. You can't have meat or dairy, remember?
- Peter: Oh right. Hmmm. Maybe I shouldn't have asked Amy to help me.
- Vanessa: It will be fine. I'm stoked! This is going to be a blast. And after a few days, I promise you won't miss your coffee. Quitting will be a piece of cake.
- Peter: I'll believe it when I see it. I really appreciate your help Vanessa.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa and Peter talk about the cleanse plan.

Instructions: Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Did you talk to Amy a second time?
2. We might still need your help with some of the recipes.
3. What do you think about this idea?
4. We can take this time to catch up and also get you some new and improved eating habits.

Let's Practice!

What are some words Vanessa uses to talk to Peter?

Instructions: Proofread the sentence. Circle the incorrect word. Write the correct word to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary. Practice reading the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. You just need to bring change for the parking meter, so I don't get a find.
2. She's coming buy this weekend to look at the recipes and the cookbook and make a shopping list.
3. I'm paying for my jaw.
4. I'm stacked!
5. This is going to be a blaster!

Extension Activity

Make sentences with homographs.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Make a list of 15 homographs (a word that is spelled like another word but that is different in meaning, or pronunciation).
- Write each homograph on a separate piece of paper.
- With a partner or a small group, take turns drawing a piece of paper from the pile.
- Hold up the paper for your partner to see. Your partner will make 2 sentences that show the 2 meanings of the word on the paper.
- Switch roles.
- Choose 2 pieces of paper and write 2 sentences for each one.

Learning Points

Homographs

You can build your vocabulary by paying attention to special words which may have different meanings depending on how they are used.

When you learn new words, sometimes one word will have different meanings (even with the same spelling). These words are called homographs.

Some homographs have the same spelling and pronunciation but different meanings. These are called homonyms.

Some homographs include:

ball → round object, dance

bear → animal, tolerate

box → container, fight can → container, able to colon → body part, punctuation

date → something on the calendar, appointment, fruit fan → someone who admires something, something to keep a room cool gum → part of mouth, something to chew mole → animal, spot on one's body

ring → circle, call, sound of a bell

Look at the examples of homographs from the text:

Examples:

- Hold on just a second ... I'm paying for my java.
- Did you talk to Amy a second time?
- The staff person who needed the weekend off had to change her plans.
- You just need to bring change for the parking meter.
- I don't have to close the restaurant on Friday.
- Amy's close to me.
- We can use my car to carry all the heavy cans.

Learning Points

Reduction of Function Words

You sometimes pronounce words differently in speaking because of assimilation.

Assimilation refers to when two sounds come together to make a new sound. You do this when you are speaking and the words link to each other in your sentences; thus, reducing the sounds. The pronunciation that results is different from the individual sounds of the words when said separately.

Look at the following examples.

Would you like some coffee?

Why don't you eat meat?

Come and kiss your mother.

Would you like some coffee? → /wouldja like some coffee/

Why don't you eat meat? → /why doncha eat meat/

Come and kiss your mother. → /come and kissyur mother/

Examples:

- Did you talk to Amy a second time?
- We might still need your help with some of the recipes.
- What do you think about this idea?
- We can take this time to catch up and also get you some new and improved eating habits.
- I promise you won't miss your coffee.
